Attendance Policy:

Instructors will create an attendance policy that is consistent with the "Class Attendance" policies stated below in the SPC General Catalog:

Students are expected to attend all classes in order to be successful in a course. The student may be administratively withdrawn from the course when absences become excessive as defined in the course syllabus.

When an unavoidable reason for class absence arises, such as illness, an official trip authorized by the college or an official activity, the instructor may permit the student to make up work missed. It is the student's responsibility to complete work missed within a reasonable period of time as determined by the instructor. Students are officially enrolled in all courses for which they pay tuition and fees at the time of registration. Should a student, for any reason, delay in reporting to a class after official enrollment, absences will be attributed to the student from the first class meeting.

Students who enroll in a course but have "Never Attended" by the official census date, as reported by the faculty member, will be administratively dropped by the Office of Admissions and Records. A student who does not meet the attendance requirements of a class as stated in the course syllabus and does not officially withdraw from that course by the official census date of the semester, may be administratively withdrawn from that course and receive a grade of "X" or "F" as determined by the instructor. Instructors are responsible for clearly stating their administrative drop policy in the course syllabus, and it is the student's responsibility to be aware of that policy.

It is the student's responsibility to verify administrative drops for excessive absences through MySPC using his or her student online account. If it is determined that a student is awarded financial aid for a class or classes in which the student never attended or participated, the financial aid award will be adjusted in accordance with the classes in which the student did attend/participate and the student will owe any balance resulting from the adjustment.

Plagiarism and Cheating: Students are expected to do their own work on all projects, quizzes, assignments, examinations, and papers. Failure to comply with this policy will result in an F for the assignment and can result in an F for the course if circumstances warrant.

Plagiarism violations include, but are not limited to, the following:

1. Turning in a paper that has been purchased, borrowed, or downloaded from another student, an online term paper site, or a mail order term paper mill;
2. Cutting and pasting together information from books, articles, other papers, or online sites without providing proper documentation;
3. Using direct quotations (three or more words) from a source without showing them to be direct quotations and citing them; or
4. Missing in-text citations.

Cheating violations include, but are not limited to, the following:

1. Obtaining an examination by stealing or collusion;
2. Discovering the content of an examination before it is given;
3. Using an unauthorized source of information (notes, textbook, text messaging, internet, apps) during an examination, quiz, or homework assignment;
4. Entering an office or building to obtain unfair advantage;
5. Taking an examination for another;
6. Altering grade records;
7. Copying another's work during an examination or on a homework assignment;
8. Rewriting another student's work in Peer Editing so that the writing is no longer the original student's;
9. Taking pictures of a test, test answers, or someone else's paper.

Student Code of Conduct Policy: Any successful learning experience requires mutual respect on the part of the student and the instructor. Neither instructor nor student should be subject to others' behavior that is rude, disruptive, intimidating, aggressive, or demeaning. Student conduct that disrupts the learning process or is deemed disrespectful or threatening shall not be tolerated and may lead to disciplinary action and/or removal from class.

Diversity Statement: In this class, the teacher will establish and support an environment that values and nurtures individual and group differences and encourages engagement and interaction. Understanding and respecting multiple experiences and perspectives will serve to challenge and stimulate all of us to learn about others, about the larger world and about ourselves. By promoting diversity and intellectual exchange, we will not only mirror society as it is, but also model society as it should and can be.

Disability Statement: Students with disabilities, including but not limited to physical, psychiatric, or learning disabilities, who wish to request accommodations in this class should notify the Disability Services Office early in the semester so that the appropriate arrangements may be made. In accordance with federal law, a student requesting accommodations must provide acceptable documentation of his/her disability to the Disability Services Office. Course Attendance

Attendance will be taken at the beginning of each class. Make every effort to be seated in the classroom when the class is scheduled to begin (11:00 a.m.).

Academic Integrity - See SPC General Catalog, page 22

You are expected to do your own work. You may not work with another person to complete your paper, exams, Blackboard work, or any other assignments or homework you may be given throughout the course. You may not copy another student's work and present it as your own. You may not allow another student to copy your work. This is your reminder that any form of cheating will not be tolerated. "Complete honesty is required of the student in the presentation of any and all phases of course work. This applies to quizzes, class exams, final examinations, in-class work, homework, and term papers." - SPC General Catalog, p. 22. If the instructor determines that cheating is occurring or an assignment has been plagiarized, the resulting grade will be zero for that assignment. A second offense will result in failure of the course and immediate withdrawal from the course.

Guidelines for Classroom Behavior

I would like to welcome all students into an environment that creates a sense of community, pride, courtesy and respect; we are all here to work cooperatively and to learn together.

Once the class session has begun, please do not leave the room. If you miss a class meeting for any reason, you are responsible for all material covered, for announcements made in your absence, and for acquiring any materials that may have been distributed in class.

It is important that we are all able to stay focused on the class lecture/discussion and not have disruptive behaviors in the class. For this reason, only one person at a time in the class should be speaking. Side conversations are distracting for surrounding students and for me.

Also, it is very rude to read papers, sleep or work on assignments for other classes in this class. For additional information on student misconduct refer to pages 11-15 of the Student Guide. Failure to abide by policies may result in expulsion from the class and an “F” for the semester. As you can see, simple norms of courtesy should be sufficient to have our class run in the best interests of all of us. Thank you in advance for your cooperation.

Cell Phones and other Electronic Devices

Cellular phone and laptop use will not be permitted during class. Students who bring a cell phone into the classroom should set it in a manner that will not cause disruption in the classroom (either off or silenced) and out of the sight of the instructor. Consequences to students using a cell phone or other electronic device (smart-watch, laptop, etc.) during class will be: 1st offense - warning, 2nd offense - student will be required to leave the classroom for the day and an absence will be recorded in the grade book, 3rd offense - dropped a letter grade in course, 4th offense - dropped from the course.

Grading Policy:

1) Blackboard Exercises (237 points, 32%)

Students will complete video quizzes, matching exercises, and multiple-choice exercises over the chapters covered in the course. These exercises are for you to test your understanding of important concepts in each chapter.

2) Written Assignment (100 points, 14%)

On two different occasions throughout the session you will be required to complete an assignment on a specific topic pertaining to course content. Each assignment should be at least 1 page (roughly 250 words), but not exceeding 2 pages (roughly 500 words) in length. Content of the assignment should be an in-depth explanation/discussion of the assigned topic. Including personal experience with the topic is optional, but it must be relevant to the topic if it is included and it should not be the main focus of the composition. Assignments must be typed and handed in to the instructor on the due date. Your composition should follow the guidelines of standard written English, and should follow basic essay format including an introduction, logical paragraph flow, and a conclusion.

Artificial Intelligence (AI) Resources:

There are now websites that will actually generate semi-unique material that somewhat resembles original material. Since the technology is available to create this content, technology is also available to detect this content. Make no mistake, this is plagiarism. I am not asking AI to write a paper, I am asking you, the student, to create this content. If you submit work that is not your own, original material, it will be considered plagiarism and receive a grade of zero. The incident will also be detailed to the Dean of Students for disciplinary actions.

3) Exams (400 points, 54%)

There will be 4 class exams each worth 100 points. The final exam will not be comprehensive. Exams will consist of multiple-choice items. The test questions will cover the chapters assigned, lecture notes, and class discussions over material that may or may not be in your text.

Exams will be taken online through Blackboard. All exams will be available to take beginning at 8:00 a.m. on a Friday and will remain available until 11:59 p.m. on the following Sunday. A student will be allowed to make-up only one missed exam during finals week (to be determined at a later date). Failure to take a second exam on the scheduled date will result in a zero (0) for that exam. Failure to take an exam on the scheduled date for a third time will result in the student being administratively dropped from the course.

Grading Scale

Your grade for the course will be determined by the total number of points earned from all of the work completed as follows:

- 663 points to 737 points = A
- 590 points to 662 points = B
- 516 points to 589 points = C
- 442 points to 515 points = D
- 0 points to 441 points = F
